

ENFORCING CROSS-BORDER MEDIATED
SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS: COLLOQUIUM
HELD AT BOND UNIVERSITY FACULTY OF LAW ON 4 NOVEMBER 2013

*Winnie Jo-Mei Ma, Chang-Fa Lo, Laurence Boulle &
Bobette Wolski

ABSTRACT

This is a summary of the colloquium held at Bond University Faculty of Law, Gold Coast, Australia, on 4 November 2013.² This colloquium was the latest event of the “MSA Project”, an international collaborative project which explores the potential for global enforcement of cross-border mediated settlement agreements, similar to that provided by the New York Convention. The ultimate ambition of the MSA Project is to produce guidelines

* Winnie Ma, Honorary Adjunct Assistant Professor of Law of Bond University, Australia; Member of National Taiwan University’s Asian Center for WTO and International Health Law and Policy: wma@bond.edu.au.

Chang-Fa Lo, Constitutional Court Justice, Taiwan, ROC; Professor of National Taiwan University College of Law: lohuang@ntu.edu.tw.

Laurence Boulle: Professor of Law of ACU Sydney; Adjunct Professor of Law of Bond University, Queensland, and University of Witwatersrand, Johannesburg: Laurence.Boulle@acu.edu.au.

Bobette Wolski: Associate Professor of Law of Bond University, Queensland: bwolski@bond.edu.au.

¹ The colloquium was funded from a Bond University Vice-Chancellor’s research grant, the value of the grant to the MSA Project is acknowledged by the organisers.

While the transcript is largely true to the contributions of the expert participants, it has been edited with some licence to provide a meaningful narrative.

² The colloquium was funded from a Bond University Vice-Chancellor’s research grant, the value of the grant to the MSA Project is acknowledged by the organisers.

While the transcript is largely true to the contributions of the expert participants, it has been edited with some licence to provide a meaningful narrative.

for drafting an international instrument which will harmonise (if not supersede) the current regimes for enforcing cross-border mediated settlement agreements.

KEYWORDS: mediated settlement agreement, MSA, mediation, New York Convention, UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Conciliation, EU Directive on Mediation